Tom Bica Repeats In Parochial Bee

Oscars To Be Given Tonight

Tight Race Seen For Best Actress, Actor

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—They hand out the Oscars tonight, and the 35th annual Academy Awards look closer than a National League pennant race.

For instance, each nominee for best actress is strong enough to win. There can be no upsets among Bette Davis ("Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?"), Lee Remick ("Days of Wine and Roses"), Katharine Hepburn ("Long Day's Journey Into Night"), Anne Bancroft ("The Miracle Worker") and Geraldine Page ("Sweet Bird of Youth").

Sentiment for Miss Davis to become the first three-time star winner gives her a slight edge.

The race is just as tight among the men. Greg Peck, Jack Lemmon and Peter O'Toole are hitting the wire neck-and-neck. Marcello Mastroianni and Burt Lancaster are not far behind.

Peck and O'Toole have the backing of nominated pictures—"To Kill a Mockingbird" and "Lawrence of Arabia." Lemmon ("Days of Wine and Roses"), Mastroianni ("Divorce—Italian Style") and Lancaster—"Birdman of Alcatraz"—are going it on their own.

There's a lot of talk, as always, for a landslide for best picture as has happened in recent years with "West Side Story," "Ben-Hur" and "Gigi."

"Lawrence of Arabia," with 10 nominations, is the favorite of the avalanche school but "Mockingbird," a well-done piece of Americana, is pressing at the finish.

The other movies nominated are "The Longest Day," one of the best war movies ever made; "Mutiny on the Bounty," a sea classic and "The Music Man," a thoroughly enjoyed movie.

The supporting categories offer the only point of agreement among the experts. Most pick Angela Lansbury ("The Manchurian Candidate") and Omar Sharif ("Lawrence of Arabia").

Other nominees: Best supporting actress—Patty Duke ("The Miracle Worker"); Mary Badham ("Mockingbird"); Thelma Ritter ("Birdman of Alcatraz") and Shirley Knight ("Sweet Bird of Youth").

Supporting actor—Terence Stamp ("Billy Budd"); Telly Savalas ("Birdman of Alcatraz"); Ed Begley ("Sweet Bird of Youth") and Victor Buono ("Ben-Hur").

after 13 other spellers from four other Catholic schools fell by the wayside.

TOM AND CYNTHIA, who was a last-minute substitution, will represent the county's parochial schools in the countywide spelling-down April 22 at Lisbon who will represent Columbiana County in the regional competition in Canton.

Cynthia didn't learn until Thursday she was to compete in the county parochial bee. She had placed second to Tom in room competition and didn't compete in the St. Paul bee when its three representatives were chosen.

However, John Stewart, a fifth grader and son of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Stewart of N. Union Ave., decided to compete in a Youngstown diocesan bee and Cynthia was selected to replace him.

The end came on the 128th word when Cynthia left out an "m" in "commemorate." Tom spelled it correctly and then clinched his victory with "insecticide."

TWO GIRLS FROM LEETONIA St. Patrick's staged a hard fight, with "initiation" finally claiming Mary Kalafus, an eighth grader. An old standby for spelling bees, "accommodate" was the downer.

Regents Board Plan Vote Due In Ohio Senate

Action on 3 Other Bills Set As Session Enters 14th Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Four administration-sought measures are due for a vote in the legislature after lawmakers swing into their 14th week of sessions tonight.

On tap in the Senate Tuesday is a House-passed bill creating a board of regents to draft and administer a master plan for higher education to handle anticipated massive enrollments.

On the same day the House will act on a measure to replace the present 4-member Liquor Board with a three-man commission to end deadlocks on penalties for violators that have plagued the board.

House members expected to bring to a floor vote Wednesday a bill to create a youth commission with broad powers to deal with juvenile delinquency.

A proposal to make public utility excise taxes payable quarterly instead of annually also is scheduled for a Senate vote Tuesday.

Although the administration disclaims sponsorship, officials say they would welcome a so-called windfall of about $30 million that would enhance Ohio's hard-pressed general fund as a result of enactment.

Excise taxes go to counties for poor relief. Local welfare officials complain that the shift to quarterly payments would give the state some $30 million of those revenues that they sorely need.

Sponsors of the measure say counties would receive the same amount of money as usual from the tax under quarterly distribution.

Governor Rhodes Intends To Keep It That Way

Austerity Is Big Word At Statehouse

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Austerity hit Ohio the day Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes took office. It's still in vogue nearly three months later. And its reverberations have echoed far beyond the borders of the Buckeye State.

Rhodes, who was state auditor for 10 years and before that Columbus mayor and city auditor, terms drastic economy the only way to balance his operating budget without new taxes.

What's more, he says it is the best way to pay off an $80 million deficit inherited from his Democratic predecessor, Michael V. DiSalle, and cut a monthly spending rate of $5 million more than revenues.

Rhodes, 53, calls his efforts "a return to fiscal responsibility in the Statehouse."

Critics call it other things—among them government by meat axe.

Rhodes' economies have slashed payrolls, poor relief subsidies and spending more quickly and deeply than many expected. The stir created in Ohio by his austerity drive is attracting attention elsewhere.

The governor practices frugality but is a soft touch when it comes to home life with his wife, Helen, a childhood sweetheart, and their three teen-age daughters.

His Ohio coal miner father died when Rhodes was 8. The youngster helped his widowed mother and two sisters but later was able to attend Ohio State University briefly.

He turned to politics, maintaining an interest in sports—serving two terms as Amateur Athletic Union several books.

When DiSalle left the governor's office, he took his personally purchased rug and drapes to his new law office here. Rhodes simply ordered the black and white marble floor polished and moved in. He calls it "the echo chamber."

Rhodes, a 6-foot, 190-pounder, often works in shirt sleeves, puffing a pipe or cigar. He professes a liking for people, politics, hard work, golf and all varieties of cheese.

His stand against new or increased taxes marks the greatest contrast with the four-year administration of DiSalle, who had been President Truman's federal price controller and former Toledo Mayor.

DiSalle pushed through a tax increase of nearly one third of a billion dollars in the Democratic-controlled 1959 Ohio General Assembly at the start of his term.

DiSalle later feuded with the legislature, newspapers and others insisting that Ohioans could and should pay more taxes.

Party leaders in both houses are backing Rhodes' "no new tax" program and his plan to create 200,000 new jobs through industrial growth, with the help of revenue bond loans.

Those who said it couldn't be done are taking a second look. Officials and industrialists of other states are making inquiries, often in person.

"We want to advertise to all industry and business that no new taxes will be levied on them in Ohio," Rhodes says.

"Everything we do is aimed at creating jobs for full employment in Ohio."

To keep his program in high gear, Rhodes relies on Finance Director Richard L. Krabach, 49, an attorney-accountant, and George E. Wilson, 39, his industrial development chief.

Krabach's first official act after Rhodes' inauguration last Jan. 14 was to fire all state employees hired during the final 120 days of DiSalle's administration, before they acquired civil service protection.

The wholesale dismissals cut a record-high state payroll from $2.7

Record Number Predicted At Polls Today

Upset Is Only Hope For Diefenbaker's Conservative Party

TORONTO (AP)—Fine weather across Canada promised a record vote today in a national election which most analysts expect will make Lester B. Pearson, 65, the nation's prime minister.

"I think the tide has turned," said a Liberal party leader as he ended a campaign tour of more than 20,000 miles and returned to his Ottawa home to await tonight's tabulation of votes.

Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker, home in Saskatchewan after a "Give 'em Hell" tour that ran 26,000 miles, expressed confidence, too. But qualified observers, after soundings in all 10 provinces, concluded that only a major upset could save Diefenbaker's Conservative party from a drubbing.

Diefenbaker, 67, became prime minister in 1957, ending 22 years of Liberal rule. In 1958 he scored the greatest victory in Canadian history, but since then his popularity has been slipping. An indecisive election last June left the Conservatives in a minority in the House of Commons, and that led to today's election.

Among those anticipating a Pearson victory the major question was whether the Liberals could win as many as 137 of the 265 House of Commons seats and thus have clear sailing as the majority party. Many forecasts centered on estimates of 110-125 Liberal seats. The Liberals then would need support from other parties in order to govern.

Diefenbaker, under similar circumstances, had 116 seats from last June until his government was overturned in February on a vote of no-confidence triggered by a dispute over whether Canada should have nuclear weapons.

Canada has acquired Bomarc missiles in cooperation with the United States and at one time planned to equip them with U.S. nuclear warheads. A U. S. State Department report that Canada was dragging its heels split the Cabinet and set off the debate that defeated Diefenbaker in Parliament.

This became the prime issue in the election campaign.

Underlying all this was the perennial question of U.S.-Canadian relations. Diefenbaker said he wanted to see Canada "a power—not puppet." Pearson said his opponent was "twisting the eagle's tail feathers."

Two last-minute rumors were expected to have little effect. One concerned an alleged State Department working paper of 191 said to refer slightly to Diefenbaker. And a Vancouver newspaper reported that U.S. Ambassador W. Walton Butterworth had written a letter welcoming Pearson's stand on nuclear weapons.

Economic questions perhaps meant more to the average voter

Rusk To Confer With De Gaulle

Seeks French Okay On NATO A-Force

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk meets with French President Charles de Gaulle today in a session believed aimed at winning acceptance of a U.S. plan for a multinational NATO nuclear force.

The French leader has opposed the idea, but his foreign minister, Maurice Couve de Murville, asked Rusk Sunday for further clarification. This led to speculation that De Gaulle may be revising his stand.

Rusk came here for the ministerial council of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. The Rusk-De Gaulle get-together, however, stole the spotlight.

Also sharing the SEATO stage was a possibility of improving French-British relations. These have been chilly since De Gaulle's veto of Britain's Common Market in January.

During the three days of talks, luncheons and receptions, British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and Couve de Murville will meet often.

The SEATO meeting opened with Laos and South Viet Nam foremost in many delegates' minds.

Laos moved back into the crisis stage last week as a result of clashes between forces of the kingdom's neutralist and pro-Communist.

Johnson Talks of Politics

Says Vice Presidency Neither Help Nor Hindrance

By JACK BELL
AND JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson regards his office as "neither a stepping stone nor a barrier" to winning election to the presidency.

Johnson is not saying so, but evidence is accumulating that the No. 2 elective man in the government is pacing himself with prudent steps toward availability for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1968.

This presumes, of course, that he will be retained in second place on the ticket next year when President Kennedy will be running again and there is no existing evidence that he will not be.

Johnson furnished an insight into his political stance, as well as his views on world and domestic problems, in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press.

Among other things, he said in response to questions:

—There is no "reckless desire" on the part of the Kennedy administration to get to the moon "at all costs" and without regard to other vital national interests.

—The Russians have taken on "a grave economic liability" in Cuba, which may give them second thoughts about continuing support of the Fidel Castro regime.

—The fight against communism in South Viet Nam is inching to ward a "successful conclusion" that may be several years ahead.

—The "Free World" alliance will close its ranks, despite its natural differences and disagreements, if there is a new external threat.

Johnson was asked whether he thinks the odds are against the election of a vice president to the top job.

"Well," he replied, "ten, or approximately a third of the men who have been vice president have become president. It is difficult for me to answer your question directly without appearing to have a personal motive."

"Trying to be as objective as I possibly can, however, I would say that the vice presidency is neither a stepping stone nor a barrier to the presidency, although we heard a good deal in 1960 about the experience of the vice president, and how it equipped Mr. Nixon for the nomination and subsequently for what the Republic

Negroes Urge New Demonstrations

Police Halt Prayer March In Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Negro leaders have urged renewed desegregation efforts in this Deep South city where police dogs crushed violence during demonstrations Sunday.

At least 29 Negroes were arrested as police halted a prayer march led by the Rev. A. D. King, brother of integration leader

Martin Luther King Jr. More demonstrations were scheduled today. Blind singer Al Hibbler—"You'll Never Walk Alone"—fame—volunteered to help in the desegregation effort.

Violence broke out when a knife-wielding Negro tried to slash a police dog.

The dog downed the man and a surging crowd of more than 200 Negroes moved to the man's rescue.

About 50 policemen and at least six other dogs jumped into the fray. The crowd broke and ran, with the dogs and patrolmen at its heels.

Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor shouted to newsmen: "Look at that dog go! That's what we train them for—to enforce the law."

The fracas was over within seconds. Six policemen held down the Negro who attacked the dog. He was among those arrested.

Twenty-three marchers led by King were arrested on charges of violating a city code which prohibits parading without a permit.

At least four others were arrested after the riot, mostly on charges of failure to move on the orders of a police officer.

Negroes were called for a mass

The Meaning of The RESURRECTION

Christians greet Easter as a miracle—the triumph of the Son of God over death—and as a time of the renewal of their own hope.

But just what is this hope? Life everlasting, immortality of soul, resurrection of the body?

And what is its basis? The Rev. Dr. Thomas S. Kepler, a leading Protestant theologian, teacher and author, searching studies and clarifies the hope of Easter in a five-part Holy Week series of articles, the first of which appears on Page 2 of today's Salem News.

City Income Tax Deadline Next Monday

The deadline for filing of 1962 final and 1963 declarations for city income tax is next Monday, City Auditor Helen Coyne said today.

Penalty for failure to file or pay the city tax may range up to a $500 fine and six months in jail or both, according to provisions of the city income tax ordinance.

The Meaning of the Resurrection:

Man Questions Life After Death

EDITOR'S NOTE — Are the years we spend on earth all there is of life? Or is there life after death? And how does modern man view these two questions? The Rev. Dr. Thomas S. Kepler, prominent Protestant theologian, considers current attitudes toward death in this first of five excerpts from his book, "The Meaning and Mystery of the Resurrection." Publisher is Association Press, copyright by the National Board of YMCAs.

By DR. THOMAS S. KEPLER

After a Sunday evening sermon in Lent several years ago, an elderly man waited to speak to me at the church door. In my sermon that evening I had referred to Voltaire's words in his early life:

"I hate to live, yet I am afraid to die," followed by his childhood thought years later shortly before his own death, "I am now ready to die, adoring God, loving my fellow men, not hating my enemies, but detesting superstition."

Said the man to me, "You hit at my worst fear. Frankly, I am scared to die."

THE WORDS of this man undoubtedly express the feeling of many people today regarding the mystery of death.

On the other hand, there are persons with a materialistic philosophy of life who feel that the few decades lived upon this planet encircle man's entirety of experience.

Christianity is a religion which never would have existed had it lacked a faith in life after death, in which Jesus was the first fruits of the resurrection.

The crucifixion of Jesus, had it not been followed by his resurrection, would have left for history merely the record of a martyr's tragic death, but not the history of "a saving event" or a great religious movement.

In the thinking of the members of the early Church the resurrection of Jesus was God's answer to the demonic forces of the world which put Jesus to death. The Christian devotees of the early Church not only outlived but outdied their opponents, for they shared the resurrection faith for themselves which they held for their Lord.

VARIOUS VIEWS toward life after death arise in the minds of modern persons.

Some raise the question of where man's continued life takes place. The view is no longer held that our earth is at the center of the universe; heaven has vanished from the heavens, and hell is no longer held as being in the lower regions of our earth.

Man lives upon a planet estimated to be over four billion years of age, in an expanding universe 16 billion years old, which extends six billion light years and contains hundreds of millions of planets besides our earth.

In asking their questions about life after death in the light of different moods, despair, awe, these figures, these persons show defiance, mystery, anguish, indifference, humility, complacency. More "thoughtful" persons within the frame of thought have been influenced by Scientific Humanism, which accepts no religious beliefs not proved by pragmatic, scientifically observed facts.

What can be proved by this method about life after death, they say, is thus far shown only in biological heritage, where a person's immortality is left in his children, and in social influence, where the impact of his life on earth leaves impressions which transcend his death. Thus for them, if life upon this planet were to be annihilated, "immortality" would be lost.

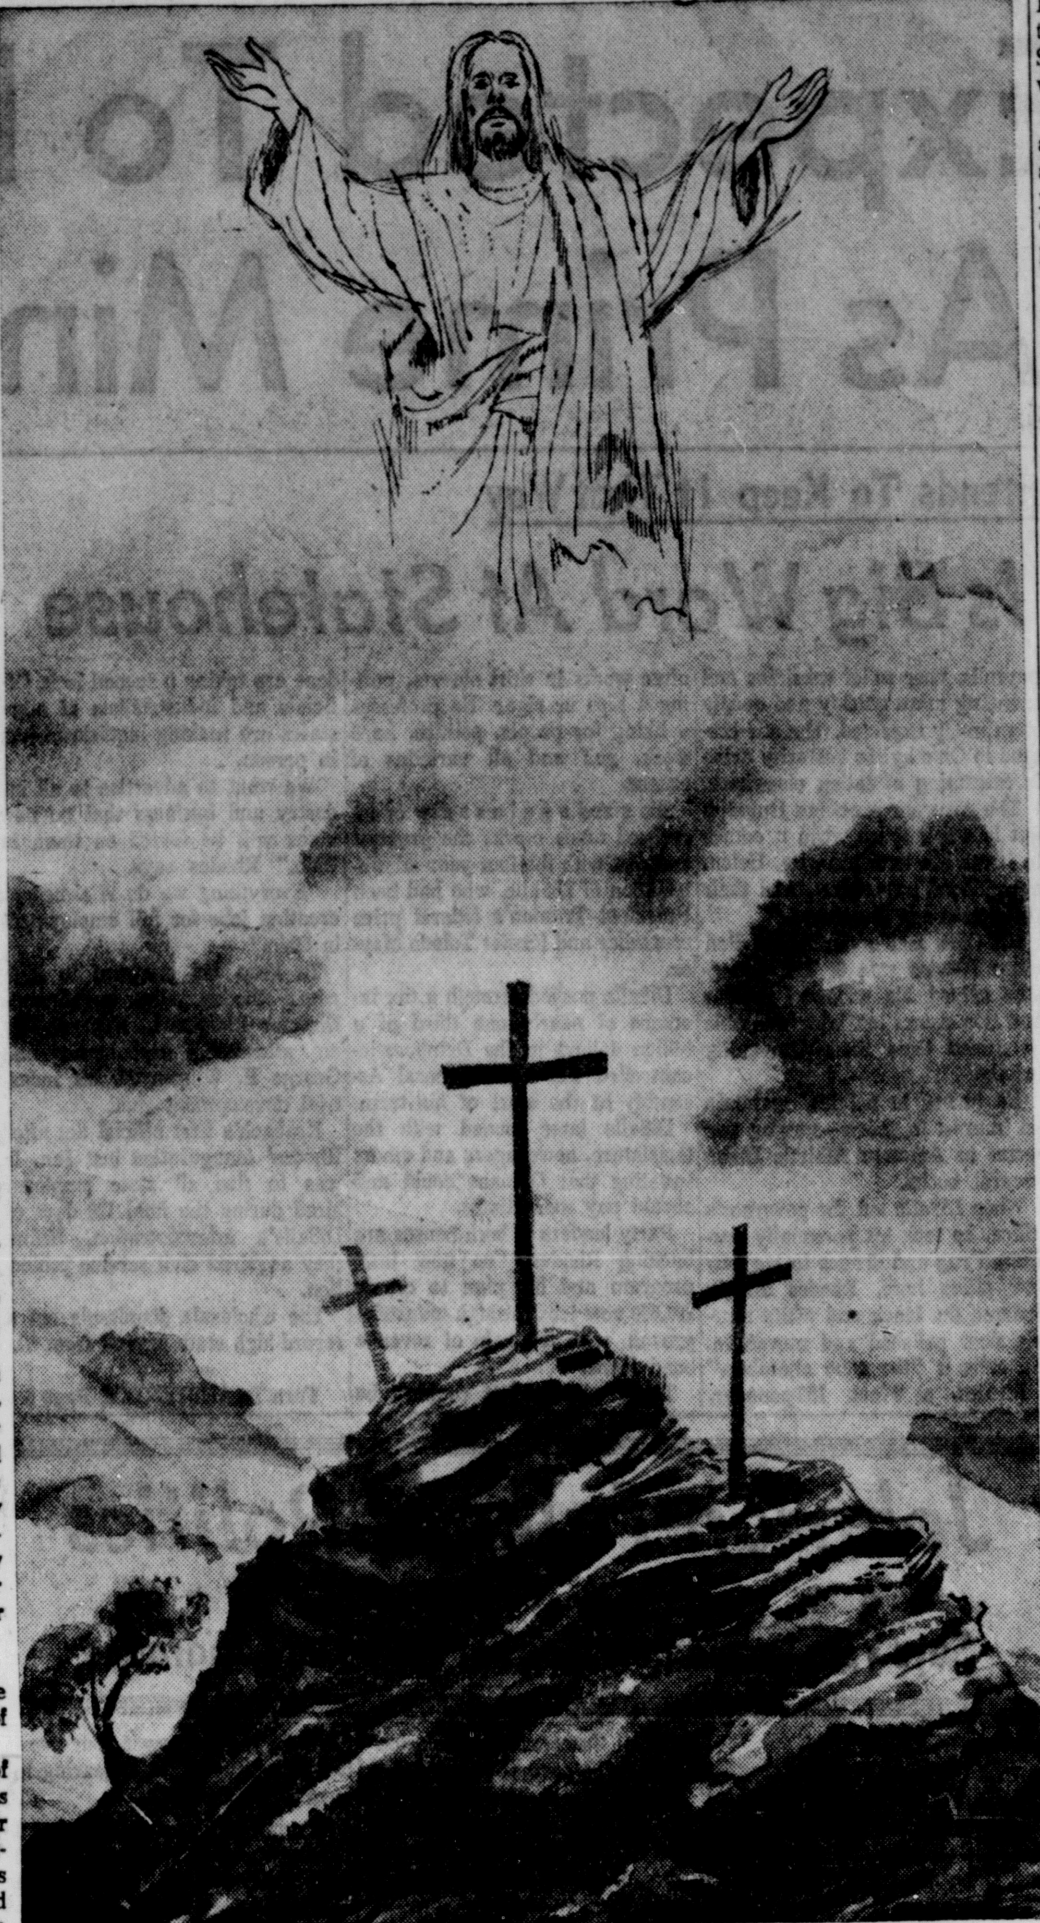

THE ATTITUDES of the persons who have given the Ingersoll Lectures at Harvard University relative to the problem of life after death show the views of solid thinkers about man's continuity beyond the grave.

Harold DeWolf has analyzed the presuppositions of their arguments concerning immortality in 30 of these lectures (1896-1934), with the following among the conclusions from their views:

"Faith in immortality is in its last analysis faith in God. . . Immortality of man is based on three great postulates: the moral perfection of God, the reasonableness of the universe and the worth of human existence. . . A good God would not create in man the expectation and desire for immortality, only to deny the anticipated object. . . Theism implies immortality."

There are other mature thinkers who would argue that the temper of our modern age is one of absolute skepticism about man's survival beyond the grave. A survey of a few years ago showed that 33 per cent of our American scientists believe in immortality, 41 per cent are disbelievers and 26 per cent are unsure.

PERHAPS somewhere in between the statements from the Ingersoll Lectures and those of American scientists the real pulse of the American people about human survival can be found. Figures are lacking, however,

Holy Week Thoughts

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Now start the "holy days," not holidays. They demand significant remembrance and intelligent personal experience. Holy Week is hallowed only if it is contemporary.

"And he entered the temple. . . and he said, 'Is it not written: My house shall be called house of prayer for all nations?'"

It is a challenge to be in the world, and not of it. There is subtle deterioration of moral sensitivity, the callousness concerning the holy. Renew in us, now, a right spirit!

TUESDAY
"You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart. You shall love your neighbor as yourself."

To love God is to love one another. This fact tortures our consciences. If a man loves only himself, or his own kind, or his own acts, how can he love the God whose redemptive love is meant for all men?

WEDNESDAY
"And when he was come near, he beheld the city, and wept over it."

Lewis Mumford has written, "Before man can gain control over the forces that now threaten his very existence, he must resume possession of himself. This sets the chief mission for the city of the future." Jesus saw the city missing this possibility. He wept. Today the hopes and fears of men are met in the midst of our great cities. Either the soul of man is free here, or there are still the tears for the missed mark.

THURSDAY
"Jesus knowing that he came from God and was going to God . . . girded himself with a towel and began to wash his disciples' feet."

True humility demands inner security. Christ did not worry about status or consider an act to be beneath his dignity. How to indicate to what degree Jesus' resurrection has affected contemporary man's belief regarding man's immortal nature, or to what degree man's belief or disbelief about human survival has stimulated his attitudes toward Jesus' resurrection.

(Tomorrow: PSYCHIC RESEARCH)

FRIDAY
"And when they came to the place that is called the Skull, there they crucified him. . . and Jesus said, Father forgive them, for they know not what they do."

So God transforms the dark. We call this day "Good Friday" because "the whole meaning of this faith hinges upon this redemptive act. To forgive is to restore."

Even while his body is being torn apart, this man holds together the broken lives of those who now find love conquering hate.

Call this day "Good."
Call this week "Holy."

Evidence Hints Man's Ordeal May Have Been Self-Imposed

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP)—As a mentally troubled 38-year-old man gradually regains strength in Berger Hospital, evidence grows that his 20-day stay in Tar Hollow State Forest with virtually no food was a self-imposed ordeal.

Wilbur E. McConaughy, who a search party found slumped against a flagpole in a deserted youth camp on the 16,000-acre reservation Saturday, weighed 112 pounds when he was brought to the hospital. He weighed about 156 before he disappeared March 18.

The Circleville man said he had eaten only a candy bar during his stay in the park.

McConaughy was nearly helpless when he was found, but doctors reported him in remarkably good physical shape in the hospital. His condition was listed as fair.

The camp where he turned up was less than 200 yards from a highway through Tar Hollow, which is east of Chillicothe.

He had only to enter a cafeteria building next to the cabin he used for quarters to get to a telephone. He could have turned on electric lights had he chosen to do so.

Relatives of McConaughy said he had been in and out of mental institutions in recent years. McConaughy's brother, Wayne of Circleville, one of the party of five who found him after search parties combed the park for two weeks, said Wilbur had been depressed following the unexpected death of his mother and father.

But self-imposed or not, there was no denying McConaughy's stay in the woods was an ordeal. "A miracle," exclaimed Ross County Deputy Sheriff Carl Reisinger when he learned McConaughy survived—and what he had survived.

McConaughy, who is unmarried, had been suffering a severe cold for several days before he went to the state forest—to look for mushrooms, he said.

He told his rescuers he lost his way, fell into a deep ravine and didn't know how long it took him to get out.

Eventually he made his way to the youth camp, closed until the summer season. He said he found the door of a cabin open and moved in. He told his brother he slept mostly in the daytime, between mattresses when temperatures dropped into the 'teens at times, and walked the floor at night to keep warm.

McConaughy wore two jackets, two shirts, two pairs of trousers and two pairs of socks when he entered the forest. Still, he suffered frostbite in his feet and hands.

He said he didn't try to get to the telephone because he felt he shouldn't break the lock of the building it is in.

McConaughy's car was found locked at the edge of the state forest on March 21. After that came repeated search efforts through the woods.

Doctors said McConaughy was thoroughly dehydrated. He told hospital authorities he had not been hungry the last 10 days, adding that he was not afraid of dying of hunger—"I knew sooner or later I'd get out," he said he drank all the water he could find.

Part of his initial treatment was a bath and a shave that removed a long beard.

McConaughy's brother said Wilbur had wandered off before, the last time for a week in October, but that he always came home. Relatives said Wilbur may have isolated himself this time because he possibly feared resumption of shock treatments to which he had been subjected before.

Don't Tie Ohio's Hands

It is a certainty that if Ohio abolished capital punishment, it would wish sooner or later it could revive it for some specific instance.

The specific instance would concern a particularly atrocious murder, possibly a premeditated attack on a police officer performing his duty, perhaps the hardest of all forms of murder to take in stride. Every fiber of decency screams for punishment to fit the crime when the law itself is the murder target.

This being the case, might it not be the part of wisdom to take note of the fact the number of executions in Ohio has been dropping since 1920? This is significant.

It means there is no disposition among Ohioans to take capital punishment lightly.

It means there is a strong reluctance to be careless about the use of capital punishment where possibility of a doubt exists. It means capital punishment is being confined to cases where the taking of a life was so atrocious, so brutal, so calloused that the murderer forfeited all right to compassion.

In the natural course of events, capital punishment will pass out of use. There is with the thought that it always should be no necessity for voting it out of existence, there is a bespeaking society's wrath against the unconscionable act that cries out for the severest punishment. Ohioans would do well to reserve the right to use capital punishment while shunning its use in ordinary circumstances.

Chairman Khrushchev Calling . . .

Russia's agreement to establish a direct communications link between Washington and the Kremlin stirs fancies of what a conversation between President Kennedy and Chairman Khrushchev might sound like.

Let's try it:

Khrushchev: Good day, Mr. President.

Kennedy: Good day to you, Mr. Chairman.

Khrushchev: Quite well, thank you. And your family?

Kennedy: Fine. Fine. My daughter has a slight cold. Nothing serious.

Khrushchev: That's good. We're having a damp spring here in Moscow, and there are a lot of colds going around here, too.

Kennedy: Yes.

(Awkward silence)

Kennedy: Well, Mr. Chairman, was there anything in particular you wanted to talk about today?

Khrushchev: No. No. Just occurred to me I hadn't talked to you lately and wondered if there was anything on your mind.

Kennedy: No, nothing offhand. Oh, I have dispatched a couple of messages to you through our envoy there relative to Cuba and Berlin. You should be getting them shortly.

Khrushchev: Yes. I've sent some to you, too.

Kennedy: Well, it was nice talking to you, Mr. Chairman.

Khrushchev: Nice talking to you, Mr. President. Good day.

Kennedy: Good day, Mr. Chairman.

King Pyrrhus Said It First

The end of the Cleveland newspaper strike finds everybody claiming victory.

But no one is fooled when a strike has lasted 126 days.

Everybody lost.

King Pyrrhus said it first in 279 B.C. He had led the army of Epirus to victory over the Romans. With a little more help from the Greek cities, he might have made Greece the dominant power of the world.

That was how important the victory was. But when it had been won, King Pyrrhus counted the dead soldiers, the dead elephants and horses, the wrecked equipment and is supposed to have said, grimly, "One more victory like this and we are lost."

As it turned out — and this part of the story rarely is recalled — King Pyrrhus and his fighting men continued to win. They had the Romans and the Carthaginians on the ropes.

What beat them was their own despotic attitude. King Pyrrhus made himself intolerable. Included among those who hated him were his fellow Greeks, one of whom killed him in an after-dark skirmish in an Argos street.

Some have been saying wishfully — and hopefully — that the New York and Cleveland strikes will be the last; that the game isn't worth the candle.

That isn't necessarily so.

But as another old-timer who came after Pyrrhus is supposed to have said when he had crossed the Rubicon: "The die is cast."

People who have been tying up newspapers under federal laws that have the effect of abridging freedom of the press have left no mystery about their potentialities.

What started out to be collective bargaining has been turned into collective deadlocking at the expense of people who want to work and people who want to read the news.

Our Junior Baseball

American Legion baseball is one of the biggest sports programs, but Commissioner W. Rulon of Indianapolis isn't sure just how many boys are playing or how well-attended the games are.

He is certain of one fact, however, that here in Salem the popular junior baseball program attracts 600 youngsters—beginners and the "pros." Our city's outstanding Legion-sponsored baseball activity was singled out for prominent mention by Commissioner Rulon over the weekend when he was citing some communities where boys benefit from the program. Bloomington, Ill., and Grand Rapids, Mich., were two others.

The "father" of Junior Legion baseball in Salem is tireless John Herman, whose own "son" happens to be a daughter. Johnny's efforts to keep the worthy endeavor going summer after summer merits the public's praise and support.

U.S. Foreign Aid Bill Just Appears to Be Smaller

By PETER EDSON

President Kennedy's foreign aid message to Congress turns out to be a request for more money for next year in spite of a tremendous effort to make the amount look smaller.

The message is three times as long as last year's. The first nine pages deal with what an insignificant thing the whole U. S. foreign aid program really is—only seven-tenths of 1 per cent of the gross national product—but look how much good it does.

There is extra emphasis on how much the President himself has cut back the program from his January estimates.

There is full endorsement of the recent report from the President's Committee to Strengthen the Security of the Free World, headed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay. It called for a cutback of foreign aid to more realistic levels that both giver and receivers could afford.

Then, like a night club check at the end of the party, you get the bad news. The foreign aid bill for the year beginning July 1 — even after being cut $420 million by the President — still comes up $4.5 billion in new obligatory authority.

THIS IS STILL $900 MILLION more than Congress appropriated for the current fiscal year.

If this amount is intended to be chicken fat which Congress can cut out of the new program, the President probably will be accommodated by the budget cutters.

Military assistance requests are for $80 million more than this year.

Economic assistance requests are for $516 million more, though $210 million of this is for increased loans which presumably will be paid back. And over 80 per cent of this money is spent in the United States.

The only really new initiative in the foreign aid program for the coming year is a double-barreled proposal to increase private investments in the developing countries. This is a perfectly laudable effort since the intent is to reduce the government's outlays for foreign aid.

THE FIRST PART of the program calls for revising the existing government guaranty on private investments abroad.

More than $900 million in guaranties is now outstanding. The total grew by $300 million in fiscal 1962 and for the first half of the current fiscal year the amount issued is $160 million.

In spite of this commendable increase there is much concern that the program is not working as effectively as it should because foreign governments won't sign the necessary agreements to make the guaranties effective.

THE SECOND PROPOSAL calls for amendment of U.S. tax law to give American taxpayers a credit for new investments in developing countries. Europe and Japan would thus be excluded.

The present idea is to grant this tax credit for a trial period of undecided length to see how it would work.

It is still an extremely fuzzy thing because the Treasury Department, which is working out the details, hasn't come up with anything definite on how big the credits would be. Present thinking is that they would be larger than tax credits granted on new investments which promote domestic growth.

This is an extremely tricky proposal. If the foreign credit is bigger than the domestic credit, it might become an incentive to build plants abroad to employ cheaper foreign labor.

Such investments also might have a bad initial effect on America's balance of payments position, though this might be offset in part by the fact that equipment for any new investment abroad would have to be made and purchased in the United States.

THE TAX CREDIT would be a one-time thing, applying only to the original investment. Foreign earnings from the original investment would not be eligible for the tax credit. A credit on reinvestment abroad of such earnings is being considered.

Net capital outflow from American investments in Latin America, Asia and Africa is reported by Department of Commerce at $395 million in 1961. Reinvested earnings in 1961 were $338 million for a total investment of $733 million. Figures for 1962 are not yet available.

In a speech in Mexico City last year, however, Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon declared that investments could be increased by $300 million to a $1 billion-a-year level.

This would reduce government foreign aid somewhat. But the tax credit cost is unknown.

"How Now, Brown Cow?"

The Criminal World

By JAMES E. WARNER

WASHINGTON — The FBI, the Secret Service and police departments around the country think they're smart — and most of them are — but the criminal world keeps coming up with new wrinkles in attempts to confound the cops.

Here's one new gimmick you and perhaps many police officers and some gamblers haven't heard about:

"Recent innovations in dice control include a small transistor transmitter built into the dice. It is similar to those used in remote controls for opening garage doors."

Loaded dice have been used for centuries, but applying modern electronic devices to them illustrates how criminals are keeping up to date, although this particular device has not appeared in a Space Age comic strip.

THERE WAS NO indication that such electronically loaded dice are being used in legal gambling casinos, but rather that they are being used by hustlers and smart-money boys in illegal games.

How to use coin-operated lockers in terminals and other heavily traveled places for illegal purposes, how to use telephones without detection (in some cases) for handling numbers games and other gambling bets, and an "almost foolproof method" of raising the value of traveler's checks are among other new criminal methods of which the FBI warned police throughout the country.

A large ring operating in large cities throughout the United States, used an almost foolproof traveler's checks. They were successful in cashing approximately $40,000 worth of these altered checks over a four-month period before their apprehension.

THEIR METHOD was to purchase several checks for a minimum amount of money each, but to include large figures such as eight and nine. They would then carefully cut out the figures from all the checks and replace them, rearranged, to raise the amount to a substantial sum.

The figures were cut with a sharp cutting tool and replaced with the use of a little moisture around the edges of the inserted numeral and pressed firmly into place with a hot iron.

The insertion of the numbers was done so neatly that detection through normal observation was very difficult. In most instances the inserted numbers would stay in place even after the checks were processed through machines.

HERE'S HOW crooks are operating in the field of lockers: The use of coin-operated lockers to perpetrate crime is becoming commonplace in some areas. In the past, bookmakers have stored their records in lockers available for equipment in bowling lanes. Known thieves, too, have been utilizing these lockers to store stolen goods.

Bowling lanes open 24 hours a day and having lockers for rent on a yearly basis are ideally suited to the needs of the criminal element.

This method has been used by persons connected with numbers activities:

After receiving a bet, the numbers writer calls his home and lets the phone ring a certain number of times, a prearranged signal for his wife to call him back at a public phone. When this call comes through from his wife, he gives her the betting information which she records at home. By using this procedure, there are no betting slips in his possession to serve as evidence of his activities.

THANT SAID that Black's "broad and extensive experience in international financial matters will be of great value to the organization in its attempt to overcome the financial difficulties that now confront it."

Mr. Black, in addition to advising the secretary general on over-all financial problems, "will give particular attention to U.N. bond sales and to ways and means of securing early payments of contributions from member states which are in arrears."

Sources here said that Mr. Black, who is now working in close consultations with Secretariat officials, will soon submit his report to the Secretary General.

Concurrent with this effort, a special working group of 21 nations, set up by the General Assembly last year, has been discussing U.N. finances in secret sessions for the past month. It had been hoped that this committee would present its findings to the special session of the General Assembly.

HOWEVER, it now appears that the committee is in total disagreement on proposals that range from a sliding scale of payments to increased payers by the five permanent members of the Security Council.

Pressure was exerted on the committee for positive action when the U.S. announced that it would pay only its assessed share of 32.02 per cent until such time that the other governments pay up. But the intra-committee disagreements persist.

The committee might now dump the dilemma in the lap of the General Assembly for further discussions. This would only postpone a solution. In the meantime, expenses increase and the deficit advances — now at the rate of some $10 million a month.

Today is Monday, April 8, the 98th day of 1963. There are 267 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On his day in 1838, regular steamboat service across the Atlantic was inaugurated when the Great Western left Bristol, England, for the United States. The vessel reached New York 15 days later.

On this day: In 1513, Ponce de Leon took possession of Florida in the name of the Spanish throne.

In 1730, the first Jewish synagogue in New York City was consecrated.

In 1895, the Supreme Court declared the income tax law of 1894 unconstitutional and the 71,000 which had been collected was returned.

In 1939, King Zog fled Albania from Italian occupation forces.

In 1946, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower told a Senate committee that failure to extend the draft would be a gamble with peace and security.

Holstein - Friesian Records

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced new lactation averages for the following registered Holstein herds in this area:

N. D. Karlen, Salem, has 9 completed production records averaging 14,970 pounds of milk and 547 lbs. of butterfat.

J. Harold McCullough, Salem, has 28 completed production records averaging 14,870 lbs. of milk and 524 pounds of butterfat.

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is turning out to be a relatively poor income year for many livestock producers, but not for the meat packing industry.

Prices of cattle, especially feed steers, and of hogs have dipped rather sharply. An Agriculture Department report said the decline reflected a sharp increase in livestock and poultry markets and not any slackening in consumer demand.

The outlook for meat processors, said a report by the Value Line, a leading investment concern, is favorable for most of the year.

"With increased cattle and hog supplies now coming to market, livestock prices have dropped significantly in recent months," said the investment report. "Even though wholesale meat prices have also dropped, the packers should record significant gains this year."

The report said, however, that farmers appear to be caught in a squeeze between higher operating costs and lower livestock prices. "They could well act to improve their situation by cutting the available supply of animals," the investment concern said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's honey bees apparently came through the severe winter without serious losses.

An Agriculture Department survey reported this today and added that early prospects for the approaching honey crop appeared to be promising in most sections of the country.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government's investment in farm product surpluses is up nearly 10 per cent over a year ago despite a cutback in plantings of grains in 1961 and 1962.

The Commodity Credit Corporation reported today it had $5,445,793,000 tied up on Feb. 28 in commodities owned by it and in price support loans to farmers. A year ago the figure was $7,718,496,000.

LEAVES BOND IN LISBON LISBON — Louis Minotti, 31, of Youngstown forfeited a $25 bond in Mayor Dean Stockman's court Sunday when he failed to appear for a hearing on a charge of driving a truck bearing passenger car registration. He was cited Sunday by village police.

Hints From

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: There is no reason to waste leftover food if one owns a deep freeze. Place a plastic container of about one-half gallon capacity in the freezer. When clearing the table after a meal, put all of the leftovers in the bowls into this container.

I include everything from creamed potatoes, gravy, vegetables of all types, rice, left-over roast, steak, and broth from boiled ham or chicken.

These leftovers may be added daily.

It will quick-freeze in layers.

After about a few weeks of collection, depending on the size of the container, I buy some nice soup bones.

I boil the soup meat with three or four medium onions until the meat is well done and falling from the bones.

I then add three or four No. 2 cans of tomatoes and the leftovers. I let this boil for about an hour with salt and pepper to taste. This makes delicious homemade soup. After the soup cools, I freeze the mixture in ice-cube trays.

When this is thoroughly frozen I remove the cubes and place them in plastic bags. This enables one to take out just as many cubes as they need for a cup or bowl of soup without thawing the entire supply.

The cubes are very nice to take when calling on a shut-in.

MILDRED C. BANKS

This is fabulous. I dumped in that one spoonful of green beans, leftover peas, those teaspoonfuls of mashed potatoes (and I found out this makes wonderful thickening for my soup), the extra spoonful of carrots, two boiled onions and even a few slices of leftover tomatoes.

It was amazing what I collected in two weeks.

When making my soup, I always add a dash of paprika. (this makes it real red and rich looking; and lots of celery salt and fresh pepper. I have also found that if you do not like watery soup that some tomato paste can be added to this vegetable soup. It makes the soup thick and filling instead of watery.

Don't forget... if you want it to go a long way and suffice for an entire meal add some noodles, macaroni, rice, and diced potatoes.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: For those who do not have washing machines and must go to washateria to do their laundry... Take several plastic dry cleaning bags with you to the laundromat.

I can throw the damp clothes in these bags and lay them on the car seat or floor and it does not leave water splashes such as when I put it in my laundry hamper or a cloth bag.

Music Art Topics Of Leornians

"What's New — In Art and Music" was the program topic when the Leornians met Wednesday at the Smucker House.

Mrs. Walter Hofmeister, in discussing music, told how music is taught in the schools and described the different types of instruments used. She also compared modern teaching methods with those used in the past.

Mrs. William Padgett and Mrs. Dickson Van Schoik gave a review of various types of modern art.

Lunch was served by the committee comprised of Mrs. Clyde McFeely, Mrs. F. Edwin Miller and Mrs. Erven McLaughlin.

Next meeting will be May 8 at the Smucker House when the program will be "What's New — In Literary Awards."

UCT to Plan For Easter Egg Hunt

Mrs. Charles Adams

Anna Mae McLaughlin Weds Charles Adams

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams are residing in Clearwater, Fla., following their wedding in First Christian Church here March 31.

The bride is the former Miss Anna Mae McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McLaughlin of Beverly Drive, Columbiana. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. Fred Adams of Warren and Mrs. Carmie Adams of Emlenton, Pa.

Rev. Harold Deitch officiated at the 2:30 p.m. ceremony where white lilies and greenery were used in decorations. Homer Taylor presided at the organ in a program of traditional wedding music. Vocal soloists were Mrs. Nelda Golden and Miss Bess McNab, both of Columbiana.

The bride's ice blue ballerina length, silk and lace gown featured a fitted bodice, modified scoop neckline, brief sleeves and dome shaped skirt with scattered appliques. She carried a Bible of her late grandmother, Mrs. David Horne. The bride's silk illusion veiling was attached to a matching pillbox which was ornamented with a front bow.

Her attendant was Mrs. William G. Rider of Columbus, a daughter of the bridegroom. Mrs. Rieder wore a gown of aqua taffeta with scoop neckline, elbow length sleeves and matching bow at the front waist, and a matching pillbox headdress with veil. Four-year-old Cheryl Ann McLaughlin of Columbiana, a niece of the bride, was in a blue and white dress and carried a basket of white flowers for her role as flower girl. Ronald Tullis of Columbiana, also four, a nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

About 150 persons attended a reception in the church parlor where an ice blue cake was featured, and blue and white streamers enhanced the scene. Mrs. Henry Cole and Mrs. Jack Tullis, sisters of the bride, cut the cake. Miss Jean Bell and Miss Irene Wilms poured. Miss Laverne McLaughlin, another sister of the bride, registered guests. Dancing followed at the Valley Golf Club, Columbiana.

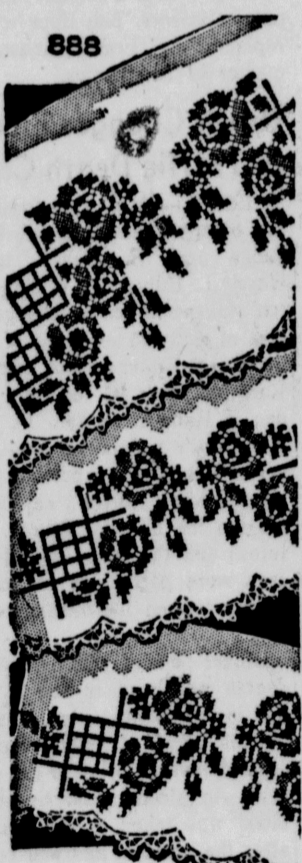

Mrs. McLaughlin chose a rose dress with blue accessories for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother appeared in a beige dress with dark brown accessories. Both mothers had corsages of gardenias and carnations.

For going away, the new Mrs. Adams wore a rose suit with ice blue accessories. A graduate of Fairfield High School and Paramount Beauty School of Youngstown, she was owner of the McLaughlin Beauty Salon in Columbiana. Mr. Adams, who formerly owned and operated Adams Jewelry in Columbiana, is now with Minneapolis Honeywell Refractories in Clearwater.

Following wedding rehearsal at the church March 29, the wedding party dined at Heck's Restaurant.

Fred O'Karnack, Western Reserve High School commercial teacher, is a member of the program committee.

Flower Arranging Trends Are Discussed By Speaker

"Pieces of wire, discarded bits of machinery and even parts of plumbing will be seen in flower arrangements of the future, reflecting the space age we live in," commented Mrs. John W. Knight of Cuyahoga Falls as she portrayed the development and change in the art of flower arranging at a program Thursday evening in Fellowship Hall of the First United Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Knight is an accredited nationally-known instructor and judge of flowers and her appearance was sponsored by the Salem Garden Center. She was introduced by Mrs. Joseph Hiegel.

Following her talk which she illustrated by making several arrangements some of which were modernistic in design and departing from the form usually used, the 200 women in attendance enjoyed a tea.

The table was laid with a silver threaded turquoise color cloth with a centerpiece of pink carnations arranged with a silver branching candelabra. Mrs. Lozier Caplan, president of the Salem Garden Club, and Mrs. Martin Lutsch Jr., president of the Salem Garden Study Club, presided at the coffee and tea services.

licans anticipated would be the presidency.

Since the President is "one of the most overburdened men in the world," Johnson said he stands ready to "perform any mission that he suggests or to comply with any request that he may make."

Johnson rejected a suggestion that he might want to change the constitutional requirement that he preside over the Senate because of the burden of other activities as a member of the Security Council, chairman of the Space Advisory Council, head of the Equal Employment Opportunities Committee and chairman of the Peace Corps Advisory Committee.

The vice president, who came to Congress when Texas was a fully segregated state, said he hasn't changed his fundamental view there should be equal opportunity afforded to the races.

"I have always believed in equality of opportunity, and I think that those beliefs are reflected in my actions over the years," he said.

April Court Term

Opens At Lisbon

LISBON — The April term of grand jury opened officially at noon today with the Bar Association's dinner meeting at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall.

The association then returned to Courtroom No. 1 for its regular meeting, with Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers assuming the presidency of the organization.

The grand jury will be picked at 9 a.m. Tuesday and will begin hearing testimony after being sworn in by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard, who will handle criminal trials this term of court.

Firemen Extinguish

Five Grass Fires

City firemen fought five grass fires over the weekend, none of which caused property damage.

Calls were answered Saturday at 12:56 p.m. at a vacant lot at 1980 Oak St., at 3:10 p.m. at 408 Aetna St., and at another vacant lot at 2193 Southeast Blvd. at 5:03 p.m.

Two other fires broke out Sunday in a field on Georgetown Rd. at 1:32 p.m. and Sunday night at 9:10 in a wooded area at Copacia Lake.

300 to about 59,000. Some 45,000 of those remaining are under civil service.

Rhodes says he is about to offer "reorganization" legislation estimated to affect 10,000 employees, a total scaled down from 18,000 earlier. Democrats call it "ripper" legislation.

Criticism sharpened when Welfare Director Denver White cut state subsidies to counties for poor relief last month in the face of an impending $11 million deficit in that division.

White says Ohio has about 140,000 persons on relief, highest state total in the nation. He also backs a "no work-no relief" bill passed by the Ohio Senate and pending in the House. Relief work now is optional with counties.

A recent administration economy effort involves borrowing a score of efficiency experts from industry to comb each state department, commission and agency to eliminate "fat and frills."

On the heels of initial firings, Krabach ordered a 9.1 per cent across-the-board cut to balance state spending against revenues.

He also halted all but emergency purchases of new cars and other equipment, banned most out-of-state travel and induced employees to work "voluntarily" on Lincoln and Washington birthdays without extra holiday pay.

DiSalle's name was blocked out on leftover stationery in the governor's office and Rhodes' name inserted, an example of smaller savings.

To put operating cash in the state till, Krabach induced major corporations to pay their franchise taxes earlier than usual. Advance payments approximating four-fifths of the $50 million a year from that source enabled Krabach to meet a quarterly public school subsidy of nearly $63 million and other obligations on time.

He expects to reduce debts to about $60 million by the end of the state bookkeeping year, June 30, and wind up the next biennium in mid-1965 with a small surplus.

Sen. Frank King of Toledo and Rep. A.G. Lancione of Belleaire, Democratic floor leaders, countered Krabach's claims. They said "the final fiscal report published by the past administration showed the state would finish the fiscal year $27 million in the black if anticipated expenditures were followed."

Krabach put together a 149-page two-year state budget in contrast to the 1,500 pages in DiSalle's last budget.

The general operating fund budget totals a record $1.3 billion, reflecting a 3 per cent annual economic growth in revenues in recent years. Separate highway and highway safety department budgets are pending in the legislature.

A general appropriation bill based on the budget is undergoing committee hearings. "The present governor, through the submission of his appropriation bill for the next two-year period, now assumes the title of Ohio's greatest spender," DiSalle said in his first public statement here since leaving office.

DiSalle recently announced he would become chief administrator of a new model city at Reston, Va., about 28 miles from Washington, about May 1.

"There has been a systematic attempt to deny and to deny Ohio's needs in the alleged interest of economy," DiSalle claimed.

Rhodes expressed a different view. "I am presenting this budget to you with a request for your cooperation to help lead Ohio to economic recovery," he told the legislature.

"This budget is cut to rock bottom, as far as demands are concerned to keep it within expected income."

"Nevertheless, it provides improvements of many state programs. Needs of education, mental health, law enforcement and other appropriate functions are met."

Majority Republicans lauded Rhodes' no-new-tax pleas, indicating they would hold the line against mounting demands of Democrats and lobby groups for big tax boosts, mainly for education.

Rhodes has reiterated a stand against proposals for a state income tax, sought by the Ohio Education Association and the Ohio AFL-CIO Council. He also opposes a boost in the state's 3 per cent sales tax, advocated by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

"There will be no industrial tax recommendations by this office in the next four years," Rhodes told a recent news conference, adding that he would not encourage a higher sales tax "or other consumer taxes."

CITED AFTER MISHAP

Floyd Smalley, 37, of RD 2 was cited by city police for reckless operation Sunday at 5:46 p.m. after he backed into a car legally parked at Lawson's Dairy on E. State St. Owner of the other auto is Joseph E. Steffel, 35, of 1146 E. 3rd St.

With Patients

Robert Brown, 29, of RD 1, Kensington, was treated and released at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Alliance City Hospital for a gunshot wound of the left hand received when an old gun he was working on accidentally discharged.

Frank Sharp, 44, of RD 1, Beloit, who received first and second degree burns of the forehead while burning waste paper in an incinerator at the Alliance Manufacturing Company, was treated and released at Alliance City Hospital at 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

Gary Lee Visi, 17, of RD 1, Beloit, injured in an auto accident at 1145 p.m. Friday in Damascus, is reported in serious condition at the Salem Central Clinic. Marvin Bartles, 25, of New Philadelphia, hurt in the same crash, is in fair condition.

Ninety-six Negroes have been arrested since the demonstrations began last Wednesday—the day after Birmingham elected former Lt. Gov. Albert Boutwell as mayor to end the political regime of Connor, a nationally known segregationist.

Thirty-two were arrested Saturday during a similar march.

The Sunday marchers were halted within three blocks of their destination Police Capt. George Wall gave them one minute to disperse.

The Negroes knelt to pray. The prayer leader, the Rev. John T. Porter of Birmingham, cried, "Father, forgive them (the police) for they know not what they do."

Wall waited for more than three minutes until the prayer was finished, then ordered them to the paddy wagons.

Cleveland Plain Dealer Resumes Publication

CLEVELAND (AP)—More than a million news-hungry readers in greater Cleveland saw their daily newspapers today for the first time in 130 days.

A multi-union strike had kept the Plain Dealer and the Press and News off newsstands and home door steps since Nov. 29. The 2,300 union members idled by the blackout lost an estimated $6 million in wages and the city's economy took an estimated $20 to $30 million shellingacking.

A musical program will be featured for the program, consisting of tap dancing routines by the "Three Sisters" and Terri and Kathy Eells. Mrs. Fay Hillberry and Mrs. Nina Martratt will render solos, accompanied by Miss (Lillian) Weston, at the piano. Deborah Eells will play a piano solo.

Columbiana Firemen Answer Two Alarms

COLUMBIANA — Two fire alarms were answered by Columbiana volunteer firemen over the weekend.

A blaze resulting from faulty ignition in a Theron Store truck on Columbiana-Lisbon Rd. was extinguished by the time firemen reached the scene after a call at 5 p.m. Saturday.

Little damage was done to the truck which is used for hauling merchandise.

Patrol Posts Issue Reports For March

The Lisbon post of the State Highway Patrol investigated 81 traffic accidents in the district in March, with three persons dying from injuries received in two crashes.

Since Jan. 1, six accidents have claimed seven lives in the Patrol's Columbiana County district. Sgt. Edward Mallory reports, and 81 separate traffic accidents in March brought to 118 the total number of mishaps since the first of the year.

The total of seven fatalities the first three months of this year, however, is four less than the 11 killed during the first quarter of last year, records show.

Sgt. Albert Lelakus of the Canfield barracks reports that 211 arrests were made in his area in March. A total of 87 traffic accidents were investigated. Thirty of the 87 mishaps involved injuries, with a total of 55 people hurt.

March had no highway fatalities in the Canfield post's area holding the total number of persons killed this year to three in three different accidents.

Sgt. Lelakus reports 259 accidents investigated to date compared to 212 at this time last year. A total of 617 arrests were made in the three-month period.

Finance Director Richard Krabach described the windfall as "a one-shot deal that will increase our cash balance so that we can pay our bills."

The regents bill has undergone revision in the Senate State Government Committee. On change limits eminent domain powers to schools with up to $12 million in endowments. Another gives the nine-member regents board advisory, instead of mandatory, powers over university courses.

Possibility of an early House vote on a bill to require annual inspection of motor vehicles mounted with an endorsement from John Coleman, chairman of the Governor's Safety Committee and executive director of the Ohio Municipal League.

The bill is pending in the House Rules Committee for assignment on the House calendar, possibly this week. It calls for periodic inspections by private garages under Highway Patrol license.

Committees in both houses scheduled an increasing number of bills for hearings during the week, presaging a speed-up in floor action as the legislature swings into the last half of the current session.

West Branch School Sisters Win Ruritan Talent Contest

Two sisters, students at West Branch High School, collaborated in writing a song which they performed Saturday to win first place in the senior division of the third annual Ruritan-sponsored talent show at West Branch High School.

Ellen Planchock, a sophomore, who wrote the lyrics, sang the piece and Marianne, a senior, who wrote the music, accompanied her on the piano. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Planchock of RD 1, Homeworth.

Salem Students Win Top Ratings In Music Festival

Six superior ratings were won by Salem soloists and ensembles when local Senior High School students participated in the Northeast State Solo and Ensemble Competition Festival at Kent State University Saturday.

Soloists winning the highest possible rating were Lois Whinnery, clarinet, Clyde Miller, baritone, Joe Horning, tuba and Gary Hasson, tenor.

A girls' ensemble composed of Linda Hrovatic, Vicki DeJanc, Patty Allen, Peggy Wilson, Linda Kekel, Becky Taylor, Mary Lou Wolf, Sandy Hunston and Michele Atkinson and accompanied by Joyce Whinnery was also rated superior, along with a woodwind ensemble composed of Becky Taylor, Kay Koontz, Lynne Miller, Lois Whinnery and Lanny Broomall.

Other soloists receiving ratings were Greg Gross, baritone, excellent; and Lenny Filler, baritone, very good.

Soloists were accompanied by Linda Crawford, Lois Whinnery and Sue Schmid.

Accompanying the group to Kent were F. Edwin Miller, director of vocal music at the school, Howard Pardee, director of instrumental music, Mrs. William Wolf and Calvin Filler.

than the nuclear question. While the nation as a whole is prosperous, much of this is due to U.S. investment. Canada has been running trade deficits and 1 of every 12 in the working force is jobless.

In the light of the Diefenbaker government's rate of progress on problems like these, many of his best friends have turned against him.

In last June's election the Liberals, doubling the showing they made in 1958, won 100 seats. The Conservatives slipped from 208 to 116.

The major surprise last time was the showing of the Social Credit party. This rightist party, called by foes the "funny money" party because it wants new avenues of purchasing power opened through federal action, took 30 seats in June. Most of these are in Quebec Province, where Real Caouette, an automobile dealer with an evangelistic flair, leads the party.

The letter "m" was also responsible for sending Mary McClure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McClure and a seventh grader at East Liverpool St. Aloysius to the sidelines. She missed out on "recommend."

The other spellers in the order in which they finished and the words they missed were:

Deborah Sullivan of Our Lady of Lourdes in East Palestine, "satellite," David Hargraves of St. Aloysius, "syllable," Aaron Roach of Immaculate Conception in Wellsville, "assurance," Linda Majewski of East Palestine, "expenditure," Michael Hargraves of St. Aloysius, "shriek," Edward Hanolt of East Palestine, Wellsville, "adjourn," John Clark of East Palestine, "icicle."

Barbara Schneider of Salem, "benefit" and Stephanie McCune of Wellsville, "seldom."

Miss Ann Johnston, a principal in East Liverpool public schools, was the pronouncer with Bert A. Dawson, dean of boys at East Liverpool High School; Arthur T. Thomas, editor of The Review, and Byron R. Eells of The Review news staff as the judges.

School Board Meeting Set For April 22

Due to a shortage of office help arising from Easter vacations, the Salem Board of Education, which would ordinarily meet next Monday night, has postponed the April meeting until the 22nd.

Superintendent of Schools Paul E. Smith said the session would probably be held earlier in the day than the usual 7:30 p.m. time because of the Kiwanis Kapers April 22. The board will make official notice of the time change later.

Among items on the agenda will be the possible hiring of a new football coach and a decision on the distribution of duties of the office of assistant superintendent during the next two school years.

Sup. Smith reported today that the screening of applicants for the coaching position, left vacant with the release of Blaine Morton, was completed Saturday. From a field of 49 applicants, the number was narrowed to 11 from which the mentor will be chosen.

After Assistant Superintendent D. W. Fadely leaves for Liberia in June, new personnel will not be hired to perform his duties, Smith said. The duties instead will be divided among existing personnel, he explained.

The 3,762 pupils in Salem City schools began a one-week Easter vacation today. Classes will resume next Monday morning.

Secretaries will be on duty at the superintendent's office this week, except on Good Friday. Offices of the Kent State University's Salem Academic Center at the high school will be open during regular hours.

Children at St. Paul's Catholic School will begin their Easter recess Thursday and return to classes April 18.

Council To Act On Gas Rate Bill

The ordinance agreeing to a new contract between the city of Salem and Ohio Fuel Gas Co. will be given third and final reading during a meeting of City Council, Tuesday evening.

Upon passage of the ordinance, the new contract will allow an over-all 2.8 per cent increase over the current rates for local gas fuel usage. Chiefly affected will be minimum gas users, with minimum bills increasing from $2.40 to $3 a month. Bills of all other consumers will be increased 44 cents a month.

The show will be telecast over the ABC network beginning at 10 p.m. EST. There will be entertainment by Eddie Fisher, Robert Goulet and Ethel Merman.

There will be one familiar face missing. Due to a conflict in toothpaste sponsors, Bob Hope will be replaced by Frank Sinatra as master of ceremonies.

Driver Changes Plea In Traffic Death Case

LISBON — At a probation hearing before Common Pleas Court Judge Joel H. Sharp today, Wayne L. Hillier, 36, of Hanoverton was permitted to change his plea of guilty to not guilty of traffic manslaughter in the death of Earl McIntosh, 43, of New Garden in Hanoverton Jan. 13, 1962.

McIntosh was killed and Hillier and three other persons were injured when Hillier's car crashed into the Midway Tavern. McIntosh and the other injured persons were patrons of the establishment when the mishap occurred.

Hillier pleaded guilty to second degree manslaughter Oct. 25, 1962 and requested probation. The defendant admitted having been in several taverns prior to the accident. An alcohol analysis of his blood was taken at the hospital after the accident and will be admitted as evidence at his jury trial.

This and That

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you are sick fewer than 16 days a year, you're healthier than the average American.

Do you snore habitually? Some 22 million Americans do, although 21 million of them probably deny it.

Tip to housewives: When you wish to reheat meat cooked rare, cover it with leaves of lettuce to avoid getting it too well done.

Modern health measures are making motherhood much safer. In 125 the death toll during pregnancy and childbirth was 65 of every 10,000 mothers. Now it's less than five per 10,000.

Christopher Columbus was no speed demon. He averaged 2.9 miles an hour on his first trip to America.

Other quotable notables: "It is indeed desirable to be well descended, but the glory belongs to our ancestors."—Plutarch.

History lesson: It isn't true that the White House is a haven for intellectual mediocrity. At least 11 U.S. presidents were members of Phi Beta Kappa, scholastic honor fraternity.

Go West, young lady, if you're looking for a rich husband. We are informed one out of every thousand persons in Casper, Wyo., is a millionaire—or was.

Those good old days? Ohio spent $2 a year on each of its public school pupils—back in 1853.

Prosperity note: Businessmen who expect to hire a college engineering graduate from the Class of 1963 can probably get him for a $600-a-month offer—if the fringe benefits also tempt him.

Life is getting easier all the time: You can now buy an electric carving knife for only $27.98.

Fast talk: The French are reported to be among the fastest speakers in the world, averaging a reported 350 syllables a minute. American men speak about 105, American women 175.

Keep your child on his feet. The famous heart doctor, Paul Dudley White, in advocating the benefits of exercise, warns that hardening of the arteries begins in boys as early as the age of 12.

Maybe this will help you feel bigger: Approximately 9 per cent of all living things are smaller and weaker than man.

The perils of authorship: Honore de Balzac, the French novelist, died exhausted at 51. It was estimated he consumed 50,000 cups of coffee while turning out 350 books.

Mrs. Hanna Is Re-elected By Winona Methodist WSCS

WINONA — Mrs. Harry Hanna was re-elected president of the Winona Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service when the 26 members met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Clarence Alexander with Mrs. Anna Whinery as co-hostess.

Other officers are: Mrs. Herbert Hanna, vice president; Mrs. Frank Tulley, honorary vice president; Mrs. Richard Stamp, recording secretary; Mrs. Gilmore Coffee, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Dusenberry, promotion secretary.

During the business session, the society voted to donate $500 toward the purchase of a new piano for the sanctuary. A donation of cash will be sent to the "Girls and Middle High School" in Korea. The pledge to missions for the 1963-64 year was increased.

April 24 has been set as cleaning day in the church kitchen and May 16 is the date for the mother-daughter banquet.

Next meeting of the society will be May 6 at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Arthur Loudon in charge of the yearly pledge service.

CHRIST MISSION TRUCK will make its semi-annual pickup in Winona and vicinity April 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dusenberry have returned from Chicago where they visited with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Dusenberry in Mundelein.

Farewell Dinner Is Given For New Waterford Pastor

CAROLINA CHARTER — Postage stamp commemorating the 300th anniversary of the Carolina Charter will be issued April 6 in Edenton, N.C. As reward for helping him regain England's throne, Charles II gave to his supporters the Carolina Charter—a strip of land extending roughly from Virginia to Florida and coast to coast. Original charter is displayed in Raleigh, N.C.

NEW WATERFORD — Mr. and Mrs. John Francisco moved recently to Mineral Ridge, where he will serve as pastor of the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Francisco, who will graduate in June from the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, has served as pastor of the New Waterford Presbyterian church for the past three years.

Until a new pastor is named, supply pastors will present the messages at the New Waterford church.

Following the morning worship service Sunday, a coverdish dinner was served in the church social room with members of the session in charge.

William Baughman, in behalf of the congregation, presented the Franciscos a farewell gift.

NEW WATERFORD Camp Fire leaders and council members met Monday and Tuesday in the social rooms of the New Waterford bank. Miss Merriett Dinely of Grand Rapids, Mich., Camp Fire adviser assisted the group in planning for the year.

MRS. ELLA HUBBARD of New Waterford was elected commander of the Navy Mothers Club when members were entertained recently at the home of Mrs. Margaret Smith. Other officers elected were Mrs. Margaret Smith, adjutant, Mrs. Rose Colella, finance chairman and Mrs. Virginia Cowan, chaplain. Mrs. Francis Taylor will entertain at her home at the next meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fries, Mr. and Mrs. James Ray of New Waterford, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Burt and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Rupert of Columbiana were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Rupert. The occasion observed the birthdays of Wayne Rupert and James Fries.

Get Most In Livability By Remodeling

Today's homeowner is well advised to take an L.Q. test. If he scores low, he is losing money by not getting the full dollar's worth of livability from his home.

According to the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, L.Q., or Livability Quotient, is determined by the amount of square feet of floor space the family actually lives in.

For example, if there are areas where the family spends 30 per cent of its time and others where it only spends 5 per cent, then the relative number of square feet of these areas should correspond roughly with the time spent in them.

When it is realized that homes cost anywhere from $10 to $20 a square foot, plus maintenance and taxes, it's not hard to see that this unused space comes at a high price.

If a house rates a low L.Q., a well-planned remodeling job can often raise the quotient to give the family economical livability. One homeowner found that his dining room, which was used only about 10 per cent of the time, was the same size as his adjacent, frequently used living room.

The solution in this case was to remove the wall between the two rooms and construct a partition which provided the family with a smaller, less formal dining area. At the same time, the living room space was increased.

Hallways also can be space wasters. No more than 10 per cent of a home's square footage should be devoted to halls.

However, no remodeling should be done without professional counsel and without first investigating the family's present and future needs.

The homeowner should take into consideration the size of his family today and what he expects it will be in the coming years, how much entertaining he does, and the privacy he and other members of the family desire.

Also careful investigation of the house is necessary so that remodeling can be done without weakening the structure. Removing a wall may seem an easy thing to do, but it may ultimately affect the structural stability of the home.

Consultation with an architect can insure that the needs and wishes of the homeowner will be translated into a remodeling job that will accomplish the desired objectives.

SAVE WALL SPACE

If kitchen cabinet space is limited, use predecorated peg-board panels for hanging shelves or individual pots and pans. Utensils and condiments will be close at hand and will occupy little wall space.

Well-Placed Lighting Has Big Effect on Furnishings

With millions of dollars being spent annually to redecorate and refurnish homes across the country, homemakers often fall one step short of developing the oasis of good living they are seeking.

They overlook the effect on the most modest furnishings of well-placed, efficient lighting fixtures and lamps of the proper colors.

Should you plan to utilize fluorescent fixtures in valance or cornice lighting, select lamps of the proper color for the mood you intend to create.

For instance, if your room features reds, natural white fluorescents will create rich, vibrant tones. Deluxe warm white lamps will provide bright, rich coloring, but with less depth of tone than natural white. Under a warm white fluorescent lamp, the colors will be clear and bright, with a slightly brown cast.

If pinks and tans are your favorite shades, natural white fluorescents will bring out warmth and richness. Under deluxe cool white, clarity and coolness are featured, while soft white will emphasize the violet-purple tones and make the tans and pinks appear brighter. Incandescent tones will make the tans and pinks slightly warmer and deeper.

In the yellow family, natural white will bring out light, bright tones. Warm white accents the green-yellow and warm beige colors; while the deluxe cool white will make the colors dark and rich in appearance.

Greens are at their best under the natural white light, which makes them clear and cool, but tends to give a bluish cast to the colors. Cool white will make the blue-greens clear, tending toward gray.

The blue family is at its best under natural white, which emphasizes the blue and makes a clear, cool color.

According to authorities atylvania Electric Products, higher lighting levels lighten colors and sharpen details. Lower levels make surroundings more intimate and darken colors.

Good Lighting Serves 4 Ways

A combination of four kinds of lighting adds livability to a home. The four types—general, task, accent and decorative lighting—increase the use of available space, add to the enjoyment of decorative and architectural beauty and accommodate the widest range of activities.

General lighting from wall or ceiling fixtures or structural elements like cornices is the basic area illumination. It balances harsh concentrations of light and enlarges a room by lighting perimeters and corners, often lost in shadows created by local lighting. General lighting increases visual comfort and contributes to the decorating scheme by maintaining color prominence and emphasizing patterns, textures and designs of furnishings.

Task lighting is the local light source necessary for quick, accurate and comfortable seeing.

Whether it's reading, cooking, sewing, shaving or playing a rubber of bridge, every seeing job needs a specific amount of light at the source. Fixtures or lamps are essential at all work or play areas.

Accent lighting is needed to emphasize accents like paintings, statuary, murals or planters.

Decorative lighting is not designed primarily to increase illumination, but to add interest and visual relief.

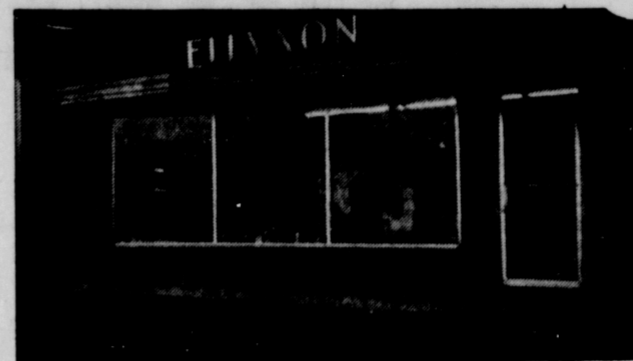

Cleaning Old Marble

To remove ingrained dirt from old marble, use a fiber brush, well-lathered with warm suds. Repeat with clean suds, if necessary. Then rinse and wipe dry with a soft cloth or chamois.

Easy on the Back

A pretty and practical new housekeeping item is a dustpan and broom set in a two-tone combination of pastel with black. They both have long handles to eliminate bending when sweeping up.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Treatment of Ulcerative Colitis

Ulcerative colitis is a baffling disease. Its cause is unknown. It is easy to recognize and hard to treat. Although progress in the treatment of this disease is being made, it still takes the lives of many children and young adults. The idea that it was caused by a germ or virus was held by some authorities, but has been abandoned, chiefly because there has never been an epidemic of the disease and it rarely attacks more than one member of a family.

There is some evidence that an emotional element plays a part in causing or aggravating the disease.

Direct observation of the mucous membrane of the colon in a victim showed that anger or resentment caused increased muscular activity of the wall of the colon, engorgement with blood, and small hemorrhages under the mucous lining.

FEW, HOWEVER, believe that this is the only factor involved. The stress and strain of the struggle in young people to become economically independent may be a factor. Recent studies strongly suggest that a food allergy may be an important cause.

Whatever the cause, the ulcers that form in the colon and the resulting diarrhea rob the body of essential nourishment and lead to extreme loss of weight and weakness. Add to this a slow but steady bleeding from the affected area and it can be readily seen that this is a serious disease; and, without proper treatment, it is a hopeless one.

Fortunately, much can be done for the victims. Early in the course of the disease an attempt must always be made to control the process without operation. In many patients this can be done and, even when operation becomes necessary, the preliminary medical treatment puts the victim in a much better condition to withstand the operation. Rest, avoidance of emotional upsets, and a diet without roughage are the basic requirements. Blood transfusions may have to be given.

MEDICATED ENEMAS have been tried, but have been abandoned because they further irritate an already damaged bowel. Psychoanalysis has also been found to be of little if any value in treatment of persons with ulcerative colitis.

Cortisone and related drugs are often used for short periods, especially in preparation for operation. In patients with a severe initial attack these drugs may be lifesaving. In those victims whose disease was found to be due to allergy, eliminating the offending food from the diet was attended after several weeks by marked improvement, but not by complete cure. A recent study in England indicates that a new sulfa drug (salielylazosulfapyridine) will control a mild attack, if given early in the course of the disease.

EVEN WITH THE BEST of medical treatment between 35 and 65 per cent of the victims have to be operated on, usually from three to six years after the onset. If an operation is decided on, nothing short of removal of the diseased colon will help. This means that the patient will have a new opening, an ileostomy, in the abdomen. The ileostomy bag that he must wear has been so vastly improved in recent years that this is no longer considered a handicap.

I will have more to say about the growing band of cheerful ileostomy patients. Suffice to say at this point that, useful as the colon is, it is one of the organs we can do very well without if we have to.

Police Play 'Tag' With Tank In Park

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A pilfered M48 tank clanked back and fourth in a city park for half an hour just before midnight, startling spooners no end. Police played a futile game of tag with the 48-ton vehicle, taken from a National Guard armory close by. Finally it rumbled across a small creek. By the time officers detoured and caught up, the tank was abandoned.

Major League Baseball Season Gets Under Way Today

Senators Open With Orioles

JFK Tosses Out 1st Ball; Cincy Starts

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Four new managers, four dozen new players, and a new strike zone help bring in the new major league season today.

As has been the custom for American League and Cincinnati in the National got a 24-hour jump on the other clubs with games today. The Baltimore Orioles were the Senators' rivals in the nation's capital while the Pittsburgh Pirates were the Reds' opponents at Crosley Field.

The other clubs will launch their pennant drives Tuesday.

President Kennedy had his right arm cranked up for the traditional first toss at Washington's D.C. Stadium. Thereafter the pitching was to be in the hands of left-handers Don Rudolph (8-10) of the Senators and Steve Barber (9-6) of the Orioles. Some 47,000 spectators were expected.

Another capacity crowd, some 30,000 fans, was assured for the Cincinnati opener. Southpaw Jim O'Toole (16-13) of the Reds and righthander Earl Francis (9-8) of the Pirates were the scheduled hurlers.

Others Start Tuesday

In the Tuesday National League opener, the San Francisco Giants will be starting the defense of their National League crown in Houston. Los Angeles will play the Cubs in Chicago. Milwaukee will meet the Pirates in Pittsburgh and the Reds will help the Phillies begin the season in Philadelphia.

All games will be played in the afternoon except for the night opener in Philadelphia.

A night opener also has been scheduled in the American League Tuesday with the Boston Red Sox engaging the Angels under the lights in Los Angeles. The New York Yankees will start proceedings against the Athletics in Kansas City, the Chicago White Sox play the Tigers in Detroit, and the Twins will be host to the Cleveland Indians in Minnesota.

Washington and Baltimore will be idle Tuesday.

The Yankees ruled a powerful 1-to-3 favorite to register their third straight American League pennant. A three-team battle involving the Giants, Dodgers and Reds has been predicted in the National.

Trades Bolster Teams

Off-season trades, of which there were a record number, were made. All clubs except the Twins, who finished second last year, participated.

The Yankees open with Joe Pepitone at first base after having traded Bill Skowron to the Dodgers for pitcher Stan Williams. Detroit has a new catching staff consisting of veteran Gus Triandos and rookie Bill Freehan and a new relief pitcher, Bob Anderson.

Baltimore, which may have made the most judicious trades of all clubs, start newcomers Luis Aparicio at shortstop, Al Smith in right field, Dick Brown and John Orsino behind the plate, Joe Gaines in the outfield and Pete Burnside and Stu Miller on the mound.

Tribe Gets 2 1st Basemen

Cleveland acquired two new first basemen, veteran Joe Adcock and young Fred Whitfield. The Indians' big boast, however, are three flashy rookies, shortstop Tony Martinez, third baseman Max Alvis and center fielder Vic Davilano.

Boston augmented its attack by the acquisition of right-handed slugger Dick Stuart and Roman Mejias.

The White Sox, rebuilding with youth, will depend upon newcomers Pete Ward at third base, Dave Nicholson in the outfield and Ronnie Hansen at shortstop. They also have added Hoyt Wilhelm, the veteran relief artist.

Washington, trying desperately to escape the American League basement, has made numerous changes while the Angels are hoping Bob Turley, former Yankee pitching ace, earns a starting job. Kansas City has a pair of newcomers in pitcher Ted Bowsfield and outfielder Chuck Essegian.

In the National League, the Dodgers have better balance. Dodgers will present a better balanced batting order because of the addition of the right-handed slugging Skowron. Los Angeles may also open with a pair of rookies, second baseman Nate Oliver and third baseman Ken McMullen.

The Giants have the same team that won the pennant, plus a couple of pitchers acquired from Baltimore, Jack Fisher and Billy Hoelt. The Reds will introduce two of the most promising rookies in the league in outfielder Tom

Henry Nemenz, most valuable basketball player; Eric Painter, most valuable track man in 1962; Paul Conrad, tie for most valuable back and best defensive basketball player and George Zeppernick, most rebounds and best foul shooter in basketball. Not pictured is Al Vignon, who tied with Conrad for most valuable back.

Boosters Hold Fourth Annual All Sports Banquet

Football, Basketball, Track Players Feted In Leetonia

Football, basketball and track performers were lauded Saturday night when the Leetonia-Washingtonville Boosters Club held its fourth annual all-sports banquet at the Orchard Hill grade school, with Dwight "Dike" Beebe, head grid coach at Youngstown University as guest speaker.

More than 200 persons were on hand to see the participants of the three sports recognized and six boys receive special awards for outstanding performance.

PAUL CONRAD and George Zeppernick each won two awards. Conrad was presented trophies for tying for most valuable back on the football team and being the best defensive player on the cage squad, while Zeppernick copped awards for being the top rebounder and best foul shooter in basketball.

Tying with Conrad as the most valuable back was Al Vignon while Dan Ferry was named the best lineman of the season. Henry Nemenz was picked the most valuable player on the cage squad and Eric Painter, a 1962 graduate, was on hand to accept his trophy as last year's most valuable track man. Boosters President Dick Gregory presented the awards.

George Trombitas, principal, was master of ceremonies with Superintendent Victor Woods commending the team and coaches for their efforts.

Miss Ann Topie introduced the cheerleaders and football and basketball queens and football and track Coach Ike Farrah and basketball Coach Len Batcha introduced the members of their squads.

IN HIS ADDRESS, Coach Beebe stressed that practice is important in all phases of life, but even more so in athletics. He said that football or basketball players should learn the plays so well that they come instinctively. If a player has to concentrate on the mechanics of the game, then his mind won't be free to cope with the unexpected situations that arise," he said.

Commenting on natural ability in athletes, Beebe said that while a lot of athletes do have more raw ability than others, they only get the best use of it when they practice consistently. "Practice is the essence of performance and practice is the essence of perfection," he concluded.

Nicklaus' 286 Wins Masters Golf By One Stroke

By MERCER BAILEY
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Young Jack Nicklaus, a sandy-haired money maker with golf clubs as his tools, seems intent on reducing the game's "Big Three" to the "Big One."

With his victory in the 27th Masters tournament Sunday, this powerful 23-year-old sophomore professional continued to dominate other members of golf's ruling trio — Arnold Palmer and Gary Player — as he has done in most of their major meetings, starting with the U.S. Open last year.

In that Open, he beat Palmer in a playoff for the title, later whipped both Palmer and Player in the inaugural "World Series of Golf," where the trio met head-to-head in a 36-hole match, and now has taken a Masters crown from the two former Masters champions.

Shouldering aside ever-increasing pressure as first one, then another competitor made a bid and fell back in the final round of the Masters, Nicklaus showed the determination it takes to make a great champion.

After bogies on Nos. 8 and 12 knocked him out of the lead, he rallied with a pair of birdies and sank a clutch three-foot putt on the 18th to win by one shot from Tony Lema and beat Julius Boros and faltering Sam Snead by two strokes.

Lema closed with a 2-under par 70 for 287.

Boros, playing with Nicklaus, also had a 72 for 288 and Snead fired a 71 for 288.

But when it was all over it was Nicklaus' show and the Columbus, Ohio, comet became the youngest man ever to win the Masters.

Palmer, the defending champion, started rallied in both the third and fourth rounds, but never was able to get one of his amazing comeback drives really rolling. He closed with a 71 for 291 and a tie with Don January for ninth place.

Player, who twice during the final round was tied with Snead and Nicklaus for top spot, finished bogey-bogey for a 70 and 289, putting him in a tie for fifth with Ed Furgol and Dow Finsterwald. Nicklaus picked up $20,000 for his victory and that put him on top of the PGA money winning list at $38,715.

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Final scores and money winners of the Masters Golf Tournament over the past 72 Augusta National course:

Jack Nicklaus, $20,000
Tony Lema, $12,000
Julius Boros, $7,000
Sam Snead, $7,000
Gary Player, $4,000
Ed Furgol, $4,000
Dow Finsterwald, $4,000
Bo Winger, $2,400
Don January, $1,800
Arnold Palmer, $1,800

Cancel Tuesday's Race Program At Waterford

Due to the lack of entries in filling the races at Waterford Park Tuesday, tomorrow's racing has been postponed. It is expected that there will be sufficient entries to operate Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. West Virginia law prohibits racing on Good Friday.

James F. Edwards, president of Waterford Park, stated that the track will maintain the 48-hour entry regardless of the outcome or the number of days the park fails to fill the races.

Today's nine race card was filled well in advance of deadline yesterday, with the featured Carnival Purse, highlighting the program.

Junior Baseball Candidates To Start Practice Tonight

The Salem Junior Baseball League, a project of the Charles H. Carey Post 56, American Legion, set their 1963 practice schedule into action at the various parks and fields in the city tonight.

A total of 10 teams will compete in the Class H loop (boys 8-11) this summer, along with 10 in Class G (boys 11-13), eight in Class F (boys 13-15), and six in Class E (boys 16-17).

There will also be a Class D squad (boys 16-19) playing under the American Legion banner.

A number of the teams this year will have new sponsors, but all of the squads that participated last year should practice under their old sponsors' name until they are changed.

Several of the Class F and H teams needed managers and coaches. Anyone interested in working with the boys during the baseball program should contact John Herman Jr., league president.

Some players who have moved up into the various league have not been contacted because of new managers and coaches, but every effort will be made to notify the boys as soon as possible.

Release forms will be available for all boys not assigned to any team and for anyone wishing to try out in the loops at Fishers News agency or Scott's Sports.

The beginners and Morning Leagues for boys six and up will also be formed again, Herman said.

Listed below is Monday and Tuesday's SJBB practice schedule. The rest of the week's slate will be in tomorrow's News sports pages.

Starr, Taylor Top Statistics In NFL Races

NEW YORK (AP)—Bart Starr continued Green Bay's march to the National Football League's statistical throne room today and officially took another well-worn crown from a defending champion.

Joining teammate Jim Taylor, the league rushing leader, as a new champion, Starr was officially awarded the NFL's passing title and dethroned Milt Plum, two-time champion when he was doing his pitching for Cleveland. Plum, with Detroit last season, finished 11th this time.

Taylor won his first individual title and dethroned Cleveland's Jimmy Brown, a five-time champion.

Starr led the league in completion percentage with an amazing 62.5 accuracy mark and had the lowest percentage of interceptions 3.2. He was fourth in average yards gained per attempt with 8.55 and 12th in touchdown passes with 12.

Second in the complicated formula based on those four categories was New York's Y. A. Tittle. No. 1 man in touchdown passes with a league record 33. The old mark of 32 was held jointly by Johnny Unitas of Baltimore and Sonny Jurgensen of Philadelphia.

Lucas May Ink Pact With Cincy Royals

Lucas May Ink Pact With Cincy Royals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jerry Lucas is starting to look more and more like a Cincinnati Royals player.

The three-time All-America basketball star from Ohio State watched Sunday night's playoff game between Cincinnati and Boston as a guest of Warren Hensel, who is buying the National Basketball Association team.

Cincinnati won the game, 109-99 and tied the seven-game series at three each. The winner will play the NBA Western Division champion for the league championship.

Hensel made it clear he could not officially talk about a contract with Lucas until the NBA governors have approved his purchase of the Royals. Lucas was less close-mouthed.

"Yes, I believe I will sign if things work out," said Lucas.

Asked about a rumored deal between Cincinnati and the New York Knicks involving him, Lucas said: "I don't like New York. I don't like the city."

The Royals chose Lucas in the 1962 NBA draft, but the young man from nearby Middletown signed a contract to play for the Cleveland Pipers of the American Basketball League. The league folded before Lucas got a chance to play, but he remained bound by a personal services contract with Howard Marks. The contract was terminated last week.

my Harper and second baseman Pete Rose.

The Cardinals appear to have benefited themselves greatly through trades that brought outfielder George Altman, shortstop Dick Groat and pitcher Nori Taylor. Pittsburgh traded three-fourths of its regular infield, including Don Swall, catcher quiring in return, pitcher Doner Jim Pagliaroni and outfielder Ted Savage.

Milwaukee will show newcomers Ty Cline and Don Dillars, outfielders; and Frank Funk, pitcher. Philadelphia feels it has rounded out its infield with the acquisition of third baseman Don Hoak. The Phillies also have acquired pitcher Ryne Duren and catcher Earl Averill.

Mets Traded Heavily

The Colts, Cubs and Mets, as expected, made the most changes. Houston will present Pete Runnels the American League pitching champion; outfielders Howie Goss and Carroll Hardy, pitchers Dave Gerard and Don Nottebart, as well as such promising rookies as John Bateman, Dave Adlesh, Brock Davis and Al Zachery.

The Cubs added pitchers Larry Jackson, Lindy McDaniel and Dick Lemay; infielders Steve Boros and Ken Aspromonte and catcher Merritt Ranew. The Mets have revamped their entire team. The most notable newcomers include Duke Snider, Carleton Willey, Norm Sherry, Larry Burright, Tim Harkness, Al Moran and Tracy Stallard.

Of the four new managers, two will be managing in the majors for the first time. They are John Pesky at Boston and Ed Lopat at Kansas City. Bobby Bragan, Milwaukee's new pilot has managed at Pittsburgh and Cleveland. Birdie Tebbets, the Indians' new skipper, has had tenures at Cincinnati and Milwaukee.

CARD OF THANKS

WE WISH to express our heartfelt thanks to our friends and neighbors, and all others for their many acts of kindness, sympathy, and to all who sent flowers during the illness and death of a loving wife, mother, and grandmother, Camilla
Baker. Also, Rev. Franklin
McAllister for his comforting words. Fherman G. Baker and family.

I WISH to thank relatives, friends, neighbors, the Hutton Nursing Home and Rev. Harold Winn for their kindness and sympathy during the long illness and death of my wife, Annabella Warner.
O. B. Warner

I WISH to express my deepest appreciation to all relatives, friends and neighbors who assisted in any way during this illness and death of my wife. I also wish to thank

A word from THERON at the Country Store

There are now almost 5,000 IGA markets in the United States and Canada doing a combined volume of over 4 billion dollars annually. We are the second largest food distribution group in the world today. IGA was started about 36 years ago. The world's largest which is a chain is over a hundred years old. IGA should be in a few years number one.

We here at the Country Store are showing a nice increase in volume every week. Thanks for your patronage, we are going to try to be worthy of it.

YFW Post Commended for Activities

Harry B. Crewson Named Sebring 'Citizen of Year'

SEBRING — Harry B. Crewson is secretary - treasurer of the of 143 W. Oregon Ave., former president of the Sebring Board of Education, was named "Citizen of the Year" at the 17th annual dinner of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post at the post home Saturday night.

Crewson, 74, moved here in 1901 from Steubenville where he was born. A one-time pottery worker, he retired in 1958 as a clerk and agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

He was a member of the Board of Education for 15 years, serving several terms as president. Active in playground and youth activities, he was a member of the Sebring Playground Board, also for 15 years.

Affectionately called "Pop" by village residents, he was supervisor of the northside playground last year.

Active in a bowling league, he

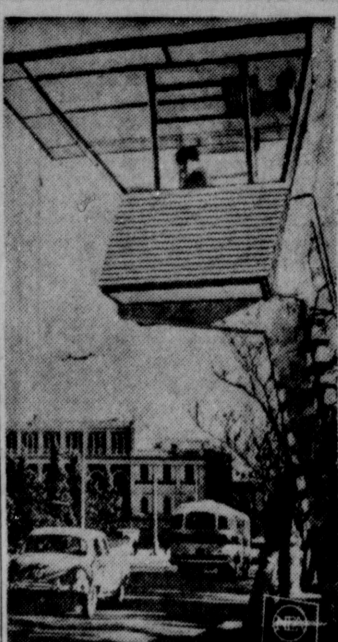

Men's Sunday School Class of the Sebring Methodist Church and serves on the church board.

He resides with his wife, Laura. They are the parents of three daughters and a son.

James Comedy, commander of the VFW's Department of Ohio, commended the post on its work, describing it as "the most active post in Ohio." The post, which has a membership of 517, increased its rolls by 150 the past year.

The post has junior boys and junior girls units, sponsors a team in the Hot Stove League, assists in the annual cancer fund drives and sponsors the yearly Voice of Democracy program for students.

Alex Meneges, editor and publisher of the Sebring Times, was awarded a lifetime social membership for outstanding service to the club, and Commander Dale Beckett also was awarded a lifetime membership and $100 for "fine leadership." Jay Dawson was master of ceremonies. About 150 persons attended the dinner.

Carl Cirihiel Wins Lisbon Spelling Bee

LISBON — Carl Cirihiel, son of Mrs. Naomi Cirihiel, 224 Lee Ave., will represent Lisbon schools in the county spelling contest to be held April 22, at Lisbon High School.

Cirihiel won the local spelling-down Friday afternoon at McKinley school over 35 contestants from Lincoln School and 15 from McKinley.

Dennis Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson, 261 Sherman St., finished second and will be an alternate for the county bee.

Wilson could have won when Cirihiel missed "coherence," but after spelling "coherence" correctly, he misspelled "colander." Cirihiel spelled "colander" and won the contest on "colossal." Both boys are from Lincoln School. Cirihiel is a 7th grader and Wilson is in the 5th grade.

Rev. William L. Brown, pastor of the Methodist Church, was the pronouncer. Judges were Mr. Jack Pilmer, Mrs. Robert A. Williams and Mrs. Kenneth Woods.

The county contest will match champions from city, village, rural and parochial schools, with the county's six best spellers going to the regional bee May 3 at Canton.

AFS UNIT TO MEET

The Salem Chapter, American Field Service, will meet at 7:30 p.m. April 16 in the student lounge of the Salem Senior High School.

Driver Falls Asleep, Car Hits Utility Pole

SEBRING — A car operated by Alton Carr, 22, of RD 1, Beloit, left the highway and crashed into a ditch and a utility pole Sunday at 10:30 p. m. on Bedell Road, a half-mile south of Rt. 224.

Carr was taken to Alliance City Hospital and released following head X-rays.

Mahoning County Deputy Arthur R. Eells, who investigated, said Carr fell asleep at the wheel.

Ham Popular On Markets This Week

Meat features this week are strong on pork, beef roasts, poultry and ham. Ham leads the parade for that Easter dinner for several reasons. The supply is more abundant than last year and prices are a bit lower, according to the Cooperative Extension Service.

One of the features many homemakers look for in fresh pork and ham is leanness. The meat industry has made sizeable strides in recent years in developing the type of animals that put a larger proportion of feed into lean meat rather than fat. It's still true that a pig will make a hog of himself if given a chance, but it's a more streamlined animal with the modern look.

In the retail markets these leaner cuts of meat will have the appearance of being thoroughly trimmed and the meat will tend to be firmer to the touch. Another aid to homemakers in selecting these more lean hams is a comparison of the thickness of the layer of fat on the unskinned portion of the ham. The thinner this layer, the leaner the ham.

Fresh Produce Available
A number of items of fresh produce can provide rather good selections to accompany ham and other meats this week. Green beans are again slightly lower in price after rising a bit during the past two weeks.

Fresh asparagus is a real money saver, with prices approaching the level usually expected in May. Broccoli is an additional rather economical fresh choice. Carrots, cabbage, celery and onions are reasonably priced items largely unchanged in price.

The citrus situation shows no change for the better.

General purpose apples and bananas are economical choices. Pears, grapes and avocados are other choices at higher price levels. Rhubarb supply is increasing toward a peak in May.

Poultry fryers and eggs are also a feature of this week's market. The large size eggs are in the best supply with only a few cents difference between large and medium size eggs. Grade AA or Grade A eggs are best for Easter eggs. Prices are quite steady except for specials offered by many stores.

Tomatoes, tomato products, radishes, greens and celery round out the choices of fresh items at fairly reasonable price levels.

Boy Playing With Trash Fire Burned

Gerald Wilson Jr., six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wilson of RD, New Waterford, is in fairly good condition in Salem City Hospital where he was admitted at 2:40 p.m. Saturday for treatment of burns on the back and arms.

The boy's parents told hospital attendants their son was burned while he and his brother were playing with a trash fire.

The youngster was given emergency treatment by an East Palestine doctor before being taken to the hospital.
